DIPLOMATS OF MODERN TYPE CHINA'S NEED, SAYS HU LIN

Newspaperman Accuses Nation's Representatives In France Of Neglect

PUBLICITY ASKED

Laborers Were Inhumanely Treated, Says Writer Back From Europe

China's lack of diplomats of the modern school and lack of publicity were the causes of her defeat at Versailles.

This was the keynote of a speech delivered last night by Mr. Hu Lin, Chinese newspaperman attached to the Chinese peace delegation at Versailles, at a dinner given in his honor by officers and members of the Shanghai Chinese Press Association.

"Revolutionise the whole diplomatic service, then China will be on the map," said Mr. Hu, in part. "China was not known to the world before the Shantung controversy. Thanks to the newspapermen of America and a number of them in Europe, China was given a great deal of publicity and the Shantung question has occupied more space on the front page of publications than any other single issue."

CHINA'S DIPLOMATS IDLE

"But China's diplomats didn't do a thing at the peace table. They did not care. They belonged to the old school. In fact many of them were clerks and counsellors of the old Manchou Foreign Office. They did not know the first thing about the affairs of the world."

"When I went to Paris 18 months ago, not a thing was done in the way of publicity, while the Japanese Government and the various Japanese embassies in Europe were spending millions for propaganda work and more than 50 newspapermen were serving on the Japanese peace delegation officially."

"To my great disappointment, I was taken sick for over two months after I arrived in Paris. In spite of my protests no preparations were made to present China's case in a popular light."

Mr. Hu then recounted his experience in organizing a small group of Chinese at Paris to undertake the publicity work and expressed admiration of the work done by one Mr. Hala, who has been a merchant in Paris for a large number of years.

Mr. Hu criticised the diplomatic and consular systems of China when he told of his experiences with the Chinese laborers in France.

LABORERS BADLY TREATED

"The treatment which our laborers in France received was inhuman," he continued, "but our Legations and Consulates paid no attention to them at all. No records were kept of these unfortunate people by any government bureau. They did not care. Our laborers overseas had to struggle along as best as they could. A coolie was shot for no good cause in a certain part of Europe. The incident came to our notice and we made inquiries at the Chinese Legation in that country. We were told that it did not know. It had no records. We went to the Consulate. The Consul cleverly shifted the entire responsibility of keeping track of the laborers on the legation."

Mr. Hu then enumerated numerous instances of ill-treatment of Chinese laborers in France at the hands of former foreign residents in China, whom their own government considered to be competent enough to handle China and who mostly despised China. He also told of the conditions of many coolies now stranded in Europe.

QUEER IDEAS IN EUROPE

"Europe had queer ideas about Chinese," continued Mr. Hu. "People there thought all Chinese were coolies. The few who could afford to dress themselves decently were considered as Japanese. Things are beginning to change since the refusal by the Chinese delegation to sign the German treaty of peace but there is no denying that the inactivity of the Legations in Europe had proved to be most costly to China's welfare."

Decrease Shown In American Exports

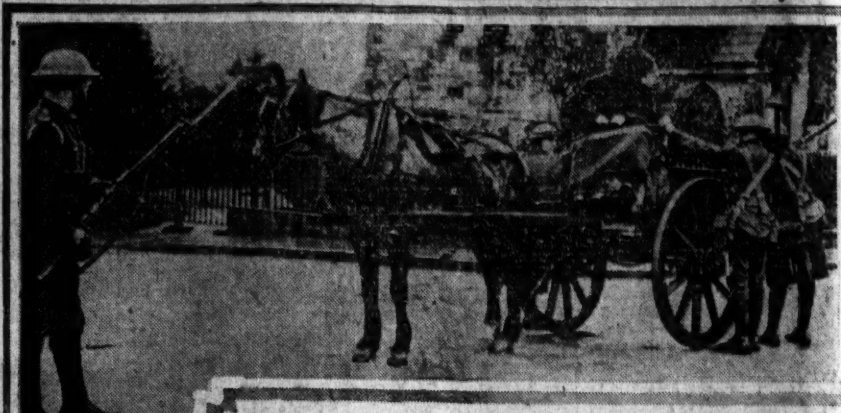

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, May 21.—The Department of Commerce reports for April were $684,000,000, showing a drop of $30,000,000 as compared with those in March.

The exports for the past ten months totaled $6,724,000,000, showing a drop of $135,000,000.

The imports for April totaled $495,000,000 and for the last ten months $4,254,000,000.

OSAKA IS PANIC STRICKEN WHEN BANK COLLAPSES

Markets Shattered And Public Confidence Wanes—Only Effect Is Moral One

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Osaka, May 25.—The report that the Seventy-Fourth Bank had suspended business for three weeks for the adjustment of its books fell like a thunder bolt in Osaka. The people had hoped that the worst was over and nervousness was disappearing. All markets were on the road to recovery but yesterday confidence again came and all markets broke steadily.

The general economic situation is now regarded as more serious than ever. Though the actual loss caused by the suspension of business of the Osaka branch of the Bank is not large, the moral effect is serious. A dozen active employment bureaux have been established in various sections of the city and inquiries are also being made throughout the country with a view to ascertaining the demand for labor. It appears that a large demand still exists chiefly in engineering works. The authorities encourage the men to return to farming wherever possible.

BRITISH FORCES UNLOAD VESSELS WHEN IRISH QUIT

Military Called Upon To Unload Ship—Dublin Officials Are Named

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 21.—On the arrival of a steamer, loaded with military equipment, at Dublin last night, the dockers refused to unload her and the crane workers declined to start their engines.

It is anticipated that this refusal to unload the vessel will spread to other branches of transport workers.

Later.—The military are unloading the steamer. There has been no interference with the work.

London, May 23.—The following changes in the personnel of Dublin Castle are indicated in an official announcement, issued today:

Sir John Anderson, Chairman of the Board of Inland Revenue, is appointed Under-Secretary to the Lord Lieutenant, jointly with Mr. James MacMahon, while Mr. A. W. Cope, Director-General of Organisation at the Ministry of Pensions, succeeds Sir John James Taylor, who was recently the object of criticism in the press, as Assistant Under-Secretary. Both appointments are temporary. Sir John Taylor retires on the completion of a lengthy period of service and is appointed Irish Privy Councillor.

New Bill Would Fix British Farm Prices

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 21.—The Agricultural Bill, introduced in the House of Commons by Sir A. Griffith Boscawen, Parliamentary Secretary for Agriculture, embodies the new land policy of the Government. Generally speaking, the Bill seeks to give security to the farmer by guaranteeing prices for wheat and oats, based on the minimum prices for the standard year, 1919, namely, wheat 68/- per quarter of 564 pounds and oats 46/- per quarter of 336 pounds.

These prices will be increased or decreased with the cost of production. The laborer will be given security by the establishment of an Agricultural Wages Board, while the State has the right to insist on proper cultivation or to vary cultivation in the national interest. The farmer, also obtains additional security of tenure.

UNIQUE POINT IS RAISED IN U.S. COURT CASE

Witness Summoned By British Supreme Court Refuses To Testify, Halts Case

What the status of a British subject is in an American court, of an American in a British court in Shanghai, is a unique point that has been thrust forward in a case now being heard by Judge C. S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China.

The case in question is that of Jackson T. Hammond versus Thomas W. Simmons and Company and the trial has been brought to an impasse by the refusal of a witness, a British subject, to give testimony. This is the first time on record that a situation of the kind has arisen in China and under the circumstances what the procedure will be in the future in similar cases probably will be decided by the British Supreme Court.

In the past when the testimony of a British subject has been required in the American court it has been the custom, as the court has authority only over American citizens, to request the British Supreme Court to issue the summons for the appearance of the witness in the American court, and the same procedure has been followed in the British court in summoning witnesses who are Americans.

INTERRUPTS HEARING

Mr. George B. Thompson, who is station officer of the Shanghai Fire Department and a British subject, is the witness who refused to testify in the Hammond case and in doing so, though he had been brought into court on a summons issued from the British Supreme Court, he said he could not give testimony until authorized to do so by the Shanghai Municipal Council. Though some further testimony was taken in the case after this happened Monday afternoon, it was found impossible to go on with the hearing until the question of whether or not Mr. Thompson is to testify in the case is disposed of.

When the situation arose, after Mr. Thompson had said he could not testify until authorized to do so by the Municipal Council, Major C. P. Holcomb who with Mr. Stirling Fessenden of Jernigan, Fessenden and Rose is appearing for Mr. Hammond in the case, informed the court of steps that had been taken in connection with the witness.

ANOTHER ANGLE

Major Holcomb said he had telephoned to Mr. William Pett.

DESCHANEL FALLS FROM TRAIN BUT IS SLIGHTLY HURT

President Of France, Suffering From Influenza, Drops From Coach Window

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 24.—The President of the Republic met with an unfortunate accident whilst traveling yesterday evening to Montbrison (Loire) where the unveiling of a monument to the memory of Senator Raymond, aviator, killed in action, was arranged to take place today.

Mr. Deschanel during Saturday had been seized with a fairly violent attack of influenza, but would not put off his arrangements for today. During the train journey, M. Deschanel overcame by the heat, went to one of the carriage windows which he opened. Then he probably lost his balance and fell out of the window on to the track.

ONLY MINOR INJURIES

At the time the train was traveling fairly slowly and the track was largely sand at the spot where the President fell. The President was stunned by his fall but recovered almost immediately and was able to get up and make his way to a level-crossing post.

The Sub-Prefect of Montargis, who had been warned immediately of the accident, arrived shortly afterwards in a motor car and conveyed the President to the Subprefecture.

M. Deschanel is only suffering from a few bruises, none of which are serious. He insisted on telephoning himself to reassure his family. Mme. Deschanel, accompanied by the Premier, has gone to Montargis.

The Minister of the Interior who was accompanying the President as well as the President's suite continued their journey to Montbrison, where the Raymond monument will be unveiled today, as arranged.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT

Paris, May 24.—President Deschanel had a narrow escape from death last night. When trying to open the window of his railway carriage he fell on to the line near Montargis. (Dep. Loiret) who was in the pyjamas at the time, did not lose consciousness but was able to walk two kilometers when he met a railway worker who assisted him to a signal cabin.

A motorcar was then summoned and the President conveyed to Montargis. M. Deschanel was very badly bruised and scratched, and on his arrival at Montargis an antitoxin serum was promptly injected as a precautionary measure. His condition gives cause for no anxiety.

It is stated that the train was traveling at the rate of 23 miles an hour when the President fell out.

YOUNG CRACKSMEN GET OVER A MILLION IN N.Y. SECURITIES

(Reuter's Service)

New York, May 21.—A man, named Armstrong, who is being tried for burglary in the financial district, has made a confession, revealing the fact that a dozen young cracksmen, operating below the "deadline," protecting Wall Street, beyond which criminals are supposed not to be permitted to penetrate, have acquired over $1,000,000 worth of securities.

POLES GAIN IN UKRAINEAN ADVANCE ON BOLSHEVIKI

Russian Radicals Keep Up Attack But Are Repulsed By Enemy

Evacuate Kasbin To Avoid Contact With Radical Force

(Reuter's Service)

Warsaw, May 24.—A Polish communiqué issued yesterday states: "The Poles are advancing in the Ukraine. The Bolsheviki continue to attack in great force in the Bereasna-Dvina sector, ten divisions attacking in a single sector. Hitherto all these attacks have been repulsed."

London, May 23.—The Times Tcheran correspondent states that, in spite of the armistice, the Bolsheviki have landed troops to the east of Kasbin and established themselves across the Enzeli-Resht road.

The fort at Enzeli and the breach-blocks of General Denikin's guns have been handed over to the Bolsheviki.

The British troops have withdrawn to Resht in order to avoid contact with the Reds.

London, May 24.—The Moscow wireless states that a Persian diplomatic mission will be sent to Moscow.

WOOD FAVORITE AT G.O.P. CONVENTION

(Reuter's Service)

Chicago, May 21.—Most of the 984 delegates to the Republican Convention have been elected but no candidate seems to be able to enter the Convention with sufficient votes to give him a decided advantage. General Leonard Wood is the favorite.

CARRANZA KILLED BY OWN MEN IS LATEST REPORT

Bandit General Villa Ready For Private Life If Revolution Succeeds

(Reuter's Service)

New York, May 22.—President Carranza was assassinated by his own men, according to a telegram from General Obregon received by Mexican revolutionary agents here.

New York, May 21.—General Villa, in the course of an interview at Chihuahua, indicated that if a satisfactory non-Carranzist Government were established, he would retire into private life and hand over to the Republic the vast quantities of valuables in his possession, otherwise he would resume his "bush-whacking" campaigns.

FRENCH RAIL STRIKE COLLAPSE IS LAID TO PUBLIC OPINION

Failure Of Some Unions To Obey Walkout Order Is Also Blamed For Failure

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 20.—The National Committee of the General Confederation of Labor met in Paris yesterday to consider the situation arising from the failure of the general strike.

M. Jouhaux, the general secretary, in the course of a long speech, attributed the failure to the fact that public opinion, even among the workers themselves, did not realize what was meant by the nationalization of railways.

Another factor in the situation, he added, was the failure of a number of unions to obey the strike orders.

The strike at Marseilles is drawing to a close. All the local transport services are now practically normal.

COTTON PRICE DROPS

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 21.—There has been a renewed fall in cotton, particularly in the Egyptian variety. The Liverpool market closed steady.

NEW COMMANDER OF VOLUNTEERS ORDERS REVIEW

Lieut. Col. R. Marr Johnson, C. M. G., D. S. O., who has come here to take command of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps, will accept his post and review the local organization at the Recreation Grounds on Friday, May 28. This announcement was made in the new commandant's Ceremonial Order No. 1.

Plans for the review are to be similar to those carried out on April 27 when British officers from Hongkong reviewed the S.V.C. Details of the Inspection Parade are to be announced at a later date.

Lieut. Col. Johnson is to supplant Major T. E. Trueman who has served as head of the Volunteer Corps since Lieut. Col. R. M. Bray was called to Europe for service with his regiment, the Duke of Wellington's, in 1915. Major Trueman was second in command of the Volunteers and was elevated.

The recent parade was impressive and spectacular and it is anticipated that the review in honor of the new commandant will see a record-breaking turnout of the Volunteers.

WILSON TO SETTLE NEW ARMENIAN FRONTIERS

President Accepts Late Invitation To Arbitrate Border Questions

BERLIN ALARMED

Fears New Revolution Of Radicals Headed In Ruhr Region

SIEGE IS LIFTED

Kapp's Followers Aided By Leniency Shown By Government

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 22.—The Council of Ambassadors has noted the communication from the United States Government in which President Wilson accepts the invitation, extended to him from San Remo, to arbitrate in the matter of the delimitation of the Armenian frontiers.

The Council has fixed June 4 for the Signature of the Hungarian Treaty.

Berlin, May 22.—In consequence of their participation in the Kapp revolt, Vice-Admiral von Trotha, Admiral von Lovetzow, Major von Falkenhansen and 12 other military and naval officers have been dismissed. Twenty-five others have been retired. The number of officers under consideration.

The state of siege has been raised in Berlin and the remainder of Germany except in a few disturbed areas.

London, May 22.—The Times states that plans have been approved for the formation of a Territorial Air Force.

ANOTHER REVOLUTION EXPECTED BY HARDEN

Berlin, May 22.—Herr Maximilian Harden, writing in Die Zukunft, predicts the imminence of another reactionary revolt.

He says that the danger centers are South and Northeast Germany. Kapp's followers, Herr Harden declares, have been encouraged by the Government's leniency towards them, and thousands of ex-officers are only awaiting the signal for revolt, while the workers are not likely again to save the Government.

Bavaria, the writer adds, is a particularly favorable ground for reaction as she is not willing to remain within an Empire in which she has little freedom.

Berlin, May 22.—The Allies have requested that the Spa conference be postponed until July 21.

Berlin, May 21.—Speaking in the National Assembly today, the Minister of the Interior declared that the Government had received information pointing to a revolutionary agitation directed by Right and Left Radicals. Danger still existed in the Ruhr region, the Minister added.

"HUMANITY'S STATUS" HINGES ON GERMANY

A letter from President Ebert was read admitting that the revolution was by no means completely at an end and uttering a warning against any but constitutional means of attaining political aims.

The Chancellor, Dr. Mueller, declared that better days for humanity were impossible, and European statesmen realized that it was impossible to exist without Germany.

Paris, May 21.—The Franco-German Economic Conference opened here today.

The Minister of Commerce, M. Isaac, welcoming the German delegates, emphasized that every export was necessary to increase world production and to hasten the economic revival of the nations.

The German representative, Herr Mayer, expressed the hope that the exchange of views would promote co-operation.

PRICE CUTTING IN AMERICA CROWDS RETAIL STORES

More Reductions Expected When Food Now In Storage Reaches The Market

(Reuter's Service)
New York, May 21.—The price-cutting movements here have started a wave of astonishing buying, the shops making the deepest cuts in their prices being crowded with buyers.

The cutting of food prices is anticipated when food stuffs, stored for speculative purposes, are forced on the market.

New York, May 21.—The movement for the reduction of prices is becoming widespread. Chicago corn and pork suffered extreme breaks. There were heavy sellings of sugar futures which broke 1 cent per lb. May Cotton broke 285 points.

London, May 21.—There are indications that the slump in food prices is extending in Great Britain. Slight falls are already recorded in the prices of bacon, butter and tinned fish, meats and fruits.

The cheaper parts of mutton fell 4d per pound and beef is likewise down, but the public are warned not to expect a slump.

Cotton dropped 16d, a pound at Liverpool.

London, May 21.—Dealing with the possibility of a break in prices in Great Britain, the Times says that trade and official circles are of opinion that while sensational slumps in the case of a few articles may occur, there are at present no signs of a steady, permanent all-round fall of prices, especially with regard to food.

Madrid, May 21.—The majority of people in Madrid are without bread owing to a bakers' strike. Riots have broken out in the city.

Chinese Minister In London Is Host To Sir John Jordan

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 20.—The Chinese Minister and Mrs. Sze gave a reception today at the Chinese Legation to Sir John and Lady Jordan on their return to England.

His Excellency in a speech of welcome said that he did not think that in the history of international intercourse any diplomat had ever been so great a success as Sir John Jordan.

"He has done more," Mr. Sze continued, "than any man, living or dead for the cause of Anglo-Chinese friendship. He criticised our shortcomings frankly and we welcomed his criticisms because they were constructive, not destructive. We knew they came from a well-wisher and a friend."

British Establish Mines Department Under New Coal Bill

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 21.—The new Coal Production Bill has been published. It establishes a Mines Department under the Board of Trade with an advisory committee of 24, composed equally of owners of minerals, lessees of minerals, miners and users of minerals, including scientific experts.

The Bill also sets up "a sanctioning authority," composed of Members of the Houses of Commons and Peers to form a panel, constituting authority for the purposes of the Bill.

London, May 21.—The Ebbw Vale Coal Company (Monmouthshire) has secured control of the Lancaster steam collieries in Monmouthshire.

SIR STARR JAMESON
(Reuter's Service)

London, May 24.—The body of Sir Starr Jameson, late Premier of Cape Colony and Chairman of the British South Africa Company (Chartered Company) was brought from England and buried by the side of his great friend Cecil Rhodes in the Matopos on May 22.

The Duke of Abercorn, Sir Otto Beit, the Resident Commissioner of Rhodesia and the Directors of the Chartered Company were among those present at the ceremony.

General Smuts sent a telegram expressing his regret at being unable to be present owing to parliamentary duties. General Smuts added, "Sir Starr Jameson was a great South African whose human qualities endeared him to all who knew him. Next to Rhodes, he was the founder of Rhodesia and one of the makers of the new South Africa."

South Africans of every race and speech are united in remembering his great services and in honoring his memory.

Rhine Territory Visited By Petain

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 24.—Marshal Petain is making a tour of the occupied areas on the Rhine. His first visit was to Coblenz where he was received by the French High Commissioner and the Commander-in-Chief of the American forces. A French guard of honor was drawn up at the station.

The High Commissioner later gave a great reception in honor of the Marshal, at which the Allied High Commissioners, the Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Armies and a number of general officers of the Armies of Occupation were present.

Being better versed in costs of fabric than in copper quotations, Zee Tsh-daung, tailor, stepped out of the paths of virtue and into the Municipal Prison for a three months term.

Zih Kwe-sung, copper-smith, tempted into bargain hunting, will spend a month in the companionship of Zee.

Zee lived in a house which was occupied by several electricians.

These artisans frequently brought home with them various and sundry parcels of copper wire, so he told the court, and Zee couldn't resist the temptation to garner a catty of it for himself.

Then came the question of disposal of the loot. Zih appealed to him as a likely market and the deal was made.

But when sentence was about to be imposed yesterday Zee begged for mercy. His plea was based on this:

"I got only ten cents for it."

Last Night

OR
"Twelfth Night"

Shanghai has a unique organization of players who have given the people of the Far East a class of theatrical productions they could not possibly have hoped for if it had not been for the A. D. C. Time after time this versatile club has produced masterpieces in such a manner as to leave little or nothing to be desired. "Twelfth Night," their first venture into the realm of Shakespeare, is no exception to the rule. Under the direction of Mr. E. P. Graham-Barrow, the Amateurs have created a production that is well worth the time and money of any lover of the drama.

It was with regret that genuine talent should pass without adequate appreciation, that it was not last evening that the Lyceum was not wholly filled. Tonight is to be the final production of the hard-merited comedy and it is to be hoped that the public will prove to the hard-working and talented members of the Club that they realize what they, the Players, are really doing and sacrificing for the pleasure of the community.

Public, so far as that portion of it which has attended the three performances thus far given, and the press have united in declaring the Shakespearean venture of the Amateurs to be not only their most pretentious but their most successful production.

Town Hall Blaze Of Color When Horticulturalists In Shanghai Give Exhibition

Posies And Vegetables Vie For Popular Approval
At Exhibition; List Of Winners Is Announced By The Judges

From pansies and roses and nasturtiums to onions and looks and radishes, the Spring Flower Show of the Shanghai Horticultural Society at the Town Hall was a colorful and glorious success yesterday. The building was filled with blooms and table decorations that were a delight not only to the expert horticulturalist but to the layman as well.

There was a table filled with wonderful pansies, their elfin faces lending a peculiar charm to the display. A bank of daisies divided the hall and flaming geraniums gave a California atmosphere to the show. There were old-fashioned nasturtiums, such as those one used to pluck in younger days in order to eat the spicy stems, and thyme added fragrance and restful background to the blaze of color.

In a separate room were shown the achievements of the gardeners. There were strawberries of exceptional delicacy, new potatoes scrubbed until they were immaculate, onions the odor from which—don't smile—was really seductive. There were leeks and radishes and persimmons and cabbage and a score of other appelling things that showed what really can be done with an intelligently handled garden in Shanghai.

St. John's Echo

The winning speeches of the East China Intercollegiate English Championship Debate are published in full in the April number of the St. John's Echo which has just made its appearance. The frontispiece is a picture of the three members who constituted the team which won the laurel for St. John's; Messrs. Kyi Zuh-sung, leader; Koo Yong-zien, second speaker and Zung Ping-tsang, third speaker.

Dr. F. L. Hawks Pott, the president of the university has an interesting editorial on the selection of courses at the university under the group system. Mr. T. Zung writes on "The Three Fugitives," some fiction which has considerable local color. Athletic, alumni, and other news together with an excellent Chinese section makes the magazine altogether interesting.

Aboriginal People Of West China

The history, customs and religion of the Chiang, an aboriginal people of West China, are described in detail by the Rev. Thomas Torrance, of the American Bible Society of Chengtu, Szechuen. The book depicts of the variety of remnants in Szechuen of an ancient race, which are most interesting though among the least known.

The work is profusely illustrated and offers a good foundation for historical research. It is the first work ever attempted on these people as heretofore the world has heard absolutely nothing of the Chiang.

BUSHBY IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL IN SHOOTING CASE

Commission Agent On Trial
On Charge Of Wounding
Chinese Sampan Man

G. Graham Bushby, commission agent, was held without bail by Magistrate G. H. King in the British Police Court yesterday when he appeared for trial on a charge of shooting a sampan coolie on May 19. The case was adjourned for a week. The victim of the shooting is still in a hospital and was unable to appear in court yesterday.

F. A. Moller, Bushby's companion on the night of the incident, told the details of the case as he knew them. He said he accompanied Bushby to the ship and there was a fight on board, the Chinese crew appearing to have a grudge against the commission man. The witness was struck on the head in the melee.

Going down the gangway, Moller said, Bushby, two Chinese girls and he hailed a sampan but something was called out in Chinese from the deck and the coolie refused to respond to their summons. Bushby then fired on the sampan and later, when they had entered another boat, fired two shots towards the deck of the ship.

KNOCKED INTO RIVER

The witness said that when Bushby leaped ashore he accidentally pushed him, the witness, into the river, but that he succeeded in making a landing after 15 or 20 minutes. The court expressed surprise that the witness escaped and remarked that he had heard that usually when a person fell in the waters of the river escape was impossible.

Cross-examined by Mr. Levison, witness said was a Norwegian subject.

Do you take drugs?—No.
Do you smoke opium?—No.
Do you sniff cocaine?—No.
Do you know whether Bushby sniffs cocaine?—Yes.
You have seen him take it?—Yes.
How often?—Sometimes, three or four times.
Do you know whether he smokes opium?—No.
Have you seen him take any other drugs?—No.
How long have you known him?—Six years. I knew him in the Customs in Canton.
Was he taking cocaine at that time?—No.

WAS TAKING "DOPE"

When was it you first saw he was taking dope?—This time. I have only been in Shanghai one and a half months.
What effect has the dope?—He gets lively.

Not reckless, does not care what he is doing?—I don't know. I have not studied him so much. You have seen this man after he has snuffed cocaine?—It seems to make him lively, happy.

Have you known him to harm anybody?—No.
Inclined to shoot with revolver?—No.
He has always been a decent person?—I have not known anything wrong.
What kind of a night was it?—Pretty dark.

Forest Fires Menace Canadian Provinces

(Reuter's Service)

Quebec, May 20.—Scores of women and children had remarkable escapes from forest fires in the Bellechasse district, which are threatening the destruction of many villages.

A train packed with refugees dashed through the burning woods on either side of the track. The coaches were licked by the flames which were however extinguished by water from the engine.

Chief officer of the Shanghai Fire Department, and had asked him to authorize Mr. Thompson to testify in the case. Chief Pett had said he could not do this. Major Holcomb explained, until authorization for Mr. Thompson to testify had been given by the Municipal Council.

To meet the situation Judge Lobingier then advised the attorneys to take up the whole question of Mr. Thompson's testimony with the British Supreme Court. While it is understood that this is to be done, Major Holcomb said yesterday that it had not yet been determined precisely what steps will be taken. In the meantime the trial of the case has been postponed indefinitely.

ONE OF TWO SUITS

Hearing of the Hammond-Simmons Company suit in the United States Court for China follows the trial of a case involving the same issues that was brought against Mr. Hammond in the British Supreme Court about ten days ago. In this suit, the Simmons Company, which on January 22 last leased from Mr. Hammond for one year premises at No. 6 Foochow Road at a monthly rental of Tael 465 a month, beginning March 1, made a claim for $2,000 damages, and asked for an injunction to restrain Mr. Hammond from interfering with the installation of an electric meter to be connected with the municipal electrical supply at the leased premises.

In this suit in the British Supreme Court and in the case before the American court the Simmons Company is represented by Mr. R. T. Bryan Jr. of Fleming, Davies and Bryan. In the first case Mr. Hammond was represented by Mr. R. E. Gregson and in the case in the American court he is represented by Major Holcomb and Mr. Stirling Fessenden.

HAMMOND'S PETITION

In his petition in the American court Mr. Hammond sets forth that he is a British subject and that the defendant is an American corporation and he reviews the terms of the lease entered into for the Foochow Road premises. He alleges that the Simmons company in various ways violated the terms of the lease agreement—by removing a certain wall in the building, by altering a verandah, by making changes in a stairway, by installing a lavatory, declared to be a menace to the sanitary state of the building, by establishing a kitchen with open fire, alleged to be a menace to the safety of the structure, by making other changes and altering wiring and electric light equipment so that an unwarranted amount of electrical current was used, all without obtaining permission to make the alleged changes.

In this suit Mr. Hammond is seeking to obtain damages in the sum of Tael 600 and he is asking also that an injunction issue enjoining the Simmons Company from making further changes in the premises and from using the electrical current in any amount in excess of Tael 15 per month.

The trial in the American court opened Monday morning and it is noteworthy that while one British subject, who had been summoned through the British Supreme Court declined to testify, several other British subjects who had been summoned through the same channel raised no questions about giving testimony. In the course of the hearing Monday witnesses who appeared were Mr. David P. Jones, Municipal Health Inspector, Mr. Roland A. Curry, architect, Mr. Hammond, Mr. E. H. Dodge, manager of Simmons and Company, Yen Hsang, an electrician, and Mr. Roy W. Gilmore, manager of Simmons and Company.

Mrs. Schroeder And Mr. Shamins Wedded

A very interesting wedding was solemnized yesterday at the Synagogue on Whangpoo Road by the Cantor, Mr. Frankel and his acolyte, Mr. Rosoff, in which the principals were Mrs. Blime Schroeder and Mr. Samuel Shamins.

The church was tastefully decorated from the entrance right up to the altar which itself was enveloped with bamboo shrubbing and varicolored electric lights.

At 4:30 o'clock, the bridegroom arrived with his best men, Messrs. Whitgob and Poliak. The sponsors for the bride were Messrs. Goldman and Weideman.

Shortly afterwards the bride was announced, and conducted near the altar to a canopy of embroidered silk held by four intimate friends, under which the bridegroom as well as the officiating clergy were assembled. In the meantime lighted tapers were distributed and these were held by the guests on both sides of the aisle.

The bride looked very pretty in her gown of silk brocade, silver lace and tulle. She wore a crown of orange blossoms covered over with a net veil which flowed down to her train and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. Her long train was in the custody of charming little bridesmaids the Misses Whitgob, Tuttleman and Litvuk, each carrying a bouquet of red and white carnations and roses. Besides these were the two chief bridesmaids who were Mesdames Whitgob and Goldman.

The ceremony at the synagogue consisted of a choral service sung by Pastor Frankel, during which the bride and groom interchanged slips of specially made wine, and culminated in the placing of the wedding ring by the groom on the bride's index finger.

A reception was held later at the Russian Club, at which over 150 guests attended. At the banquet, Mr. C. Pereira of the Brazilian consulate, in a few words voiced the sentiments of the guests, in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Shamins a very happy future.

Police Called On To Watch Departure—All Pupils Given Car Fare

(China Press Correspondence)

Lanhien, Chihli, May 20.—The Changli Middle School was today dismissed by the principal. The students had agreed to go back to classes when the Peking Schools did. Most of them kept this promise, but unfortunately there were over 20 students who had gone north 70 li to a place called "Faiying to speak."

They were unable to get back in time to begin work on Monday of this week and when they did return they found the other students had already gone back to their lessons without first consulting them. They not only refused to go to school themselves but did their best by exhortation and threats to hinder other students from studying and attending classes. Their efforts were so successful in spite of exhortation and conferences between principal, teachers and students, that it was decided that the best course was to dismiss. The fact that last term considerable time was lost by troubles in the school and this term already over three weeks had been lost, made it impossible to complete the work of the year.

easier to get them away each student was given money sufficient for his car fare. By nine o'clock the police were sent back to the city, as practically all the students had left the yard.

The whole affair came out of the student strike. At first the students were harmonious among themselves, but as time went on there was considerable jealousy on the part of some, and the school was divided into two camps. The fact that they had been under restraint for three weeks brought the trouble to a head.

ACKNOWLEDGE FAILURE

Kiukiang, May 19.—The Government and Mission schools students in this vicinity returned to their classes on the 17th after a three week "vacation." If it had not been for the fact that one of the Mission schools sent two of their students to Shanghai to learn the decision of the Central Union, the students would not be in school today. The students had not received any word direct from their central office in Shanghai and consequently were going on the assumption that all schools had "gone out" for the balance of the year.

The students acknowledge their failure in the strike and were more than anxious to get back to their studies, especially those who were expecting to graduate. Throughout the whole period of the strike, the students in the city were very orderly and law abiding.

RICE EXPORTATION FROM HUNAN OK'D

Feared Now That H. C. Of L. May Hit Province—Other News From Siangtan

(China Press Correspondence)

Siangtan, Hunan, May 17.—Several of the large steamers from down rivers have recently navigated Hunan waters, the occasion being the export of large quantities of rice permitted by the Governor.

The Tungting of Butterfield and Swire, made several trips to Siangtan, while the Poyang made at least one trip to Changsha. The Kiangwo of Jardine and Matheson also made one trip.

These steamers were in addition to those run regularly at this season of the year. Normally, Butterfield and Swire and the Japanese each have two steamers a week, and Jardine Matheson one, to Changsha and Siangtan but recently during the export of rice steamers have been coming and going without reference to any schedule.

Periodically the export of rice has been permitted by the authorities in Hunan, but never without later working hardship on the people of the province, and in more than one instance rice riots have been the result. Economic conditions in China are such that one part of the country must depend upon other sections for the means of sustaining life, and it is right that such should be the case, but it is possible that one district having plenty and more to ordinary circumstances, may be so drawn upon as to make living conditions extremely hard within a very short time. Rice riots have taken place before and the recent wholesale export of that staff of life to the Chinese increases the probability of others.

The recent strike of students in some sections of the country failed to impress the students in Hunan. From the beginning all the talk was against the strike. Last year they had suffered from having been drawn into the strike, and it would have taken severe pressure to force them in again. However, they asked for and demanded a holiday on the anniversary of "China's disgrace," and in most centers the day was, from their standpoint, appropriately observed by parades, speeches and the distribution of patriotic literature.

Recent changes have taken place in the American Consular service in Hunan. Mr. M. P. Perkins, who for some time has been the efficient Consul at Changsha has been transferred to Shanghai. Mr. C. D. Menhardt has arrived to take over American interests in Hunan.

GERMANS BUSY AT UNIVERSITY

Junkers And Officers Concentrating On Volunteer Corps At Greifswald

BY GEORGE RENWICK

Berlin, April 22.—An amazing and unique counter-revolutionary organization is being established in the Province of Pomerania by General von Lutwitz and Colonel Bischoff, two prominent Kappists, who are still at large, with the help of General von der Goltz, the notorious leader of the Iron Division in the Baltic Provinces.

I have received from the very center of this movement information about it which shows what a daring and widespread reactionary effort is being made. This information is confirmed from other sources.

The Government lately has suspicions that something was afoot in the Province and despatched a mission to make inquiries on the spot. As a result of its investigations seven local Governors have been dismissed.

A RICH SCHOOL

I learn the center of the extraordinary movement is Greifswald which possesses one of the oldest and richest universities of Germany. It has long been a tower of strength for Protestant orthodoxy in North Germany and one of the main centers of reactionary activity. The university draws its revenues from no fewer than eighty estates, and it is, therefore, perhaps the biggest landowner in Prussia. These estates are let out to Pan Germans of the extreme type and they run on thoroughly Junker lines. There is, therefore, very close unity between those Junkers and the university authorities, who are ultra-conservative to a man.

Care is taken to see that all students have an enthusiasm for the old order of things. Their corps and those of the high schools in the town and neighborhood are bound together by intimate relationships. This matter was supervised by Captain Mücke, "hero" of the privateer Ayesha, the exploits of which during the war will be remembered. He is presumed to be studying agricultural matters at the School of Agriculture at Eldena, not far from Greifswald, but his real work is to organize those university and school corps and superintend the training of the volunteer force which is formed from them. That force has been officially declared to be disbanded, but no notice is taken of that.

Mücke is assisted by numerous other officers, from Lieutenants to Majors, who presumably are studying at the university but whose work really was officiating the volunteer force. The number of university students last winter was about 1,800. It is now nearly 3,000 and the bulk of these are doing the minimum amount of study.

In the high schools feeling is so predominantly Pan German that during the Kapp coup only one scholar put in appearance in all the Greifswald schools. The others were celebrating the revolution.

COLONISE BIG ESTATES

Throughout the Province the Pan German Land League is very active. It has successfully lobbied all the Government's attempts to colonize the big estates and agricultural laborers are little better than serfs, many of them having been dismissed to make room for the Baltic troops who, as I have said before, were placed on these estates in the disguise of laborers. At a low estimate there are 3,000 of them and they are so distributed that they can easily be brought together as troops at short notice.

In addition to these university and militarist elements it is believed the Reichswehr troops, officered almost wholly by Kappists, are mostly on the side of the reactionaries. The Government at least cannot rely on them to take steps against the Kappists. Lutwitz and Bischoff had their headquarters until a few days ago at Greifswald and they spent all day yesterday quite openly in the town.

There is not the slightest doubt there are great quantities of arms on the big estates, and additional men from the Iron Division are constantly being sent on to them. The small island of Danholm, near Stralsund, is a regular arsenal, and these men are provided with rifles and uniforms. Rugen Island is a military depot, and forces are equipped and exercised there. All officers superintending the work at those two places took part in the Kappist movement in March.

It is whispered rather loudly throughout Pomerania, I learn, that a coup may be expected about the end of June, or the beginning of July.

Shanghai Mutual Telephone Co., Ltd.

Expression of the ability shown by Mr. G. L. Oberg as founder and moving spirit in the corporation was given by the stockholders in the Shanghai Mutual Telephone Co., Ltd., yesterday at their annual meeting when they voted him Tails 55,000. Mr. Oberg was affected by the recent Order in Council forbidding foreigners from managerial positions in British companies. The money voted consisted of one year's salary and one month's salary for each year he has been with the company.

Mr. G. Pare, in a brief address to the stockholders, who represented 2,117 shares, declared that the success of the company was a monument to the tireless energy and ability of Mr. Oberg.

RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions adopted were:

1.—That the accounts be accepted, Proposed by Mr. Macleod and seconded by Mr. Holliday.

2.—That the appropriations recommended be voted. Proposed by Mr. Macleod and seconded by Mr. Pearce.

3.—That Mr. Pearce be re-elected to the directorate. Proposed by Mr. Harris and seconded by Mr. Page.

4.—That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be re-appointed auditors of the company with a remuneration of Tails 750 per annum. Proposed by Mr. Lewis and seconded by Mr. Browett.

Resolutions were also adopted voting thanks to the officers and directors of the company for their untiring efforts in making its operations a success.

The report of the chairman stated that experiments in automatic telephone systems are to be made in four divisions of the plant. Also a dividend of Tails 4 per share was voted with a bonus of Tails 1 1/2 per share. This will mean the distribution of Tails 110,000.

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT

The Chairman's report follows:

The Report and Accounts with the Auditors' certificate attached have been already in your hands for several days. As usual, with your permission, as customary, we shall take as read.

Changes in prospect at last year's meeting have been effected. The material for the Central Exchange switchboard extension and that of the new West Exchange, was delivered within a very short time of the contract period, and Central Exchange new connections began on January 1, and numbered 447. By the end of March a reduction in the number of complaints had occurred as anticipated.

The new West Exchange is expected to be ready for service early in July.

The work involved in both installations is being entirely carried out by our own staff.

The Engineer-in-Chief's report to the directors is a most interesting document setting forth a comparative statement covering the years 1918, 1919, 1920, each ending March 31. There is time now to refer to only a few of its figures.

LINES INCREASED

In spite of the fact that no new connection could be made at the Central Exchange for 3 out of 12 months ending March 31 last, the number of direct lines increased by 1,111 compared with 788 during the preceding year. 663 of these new lines were connected during January, February and March last.

The corresponding figures for telephones, including those of private exchanges and extensions, show an increase of 1,554, being more than double that of 1919.

Whilst the largest number of messages effected on any one day in 1920 was a record of 114,817, being an increase of 12,375 on the 1919 figure, the number of messages per subscriber per day was, respectively for these years 13.5 and 13.6, whilst for 1918 it was 12.3.

A good deal of work was done in transferring aerial cables to underground ducts, which if expressed as single wires would have stretched 8.7 miles. During the same time were placed underground 1,327 miles of new wire, whilst 224.9 miles of open aerial wire called for the erection of 350 poles, moving 151, and changing 270 others and setting up 439 reinforced concrete bases, the making of which and other items under 14 headings made or repaired or altered, involved an increase of over 50 percent in the Yangtsepoow workshop staff in two years.

FOREIGN STAFF LARGER

The foreign staff of ladies and men have increased from 44 to 49, and that of the Chinese staff from 540 to 777 in the same time—exclusive of casual labor.

In accordance with what was intimated a year ago, specifications have been issued calling for tenders from which a different automatic system will be selected, to be installed at the East Exchange and in three small private ones. Intercommunication of these with each other and the manual system will furnish experience as to mechanical efficiency, original and running cost, which will allow the Company from entire.

dependence as hitherto on outside advice, when determining the advisability of adopting automatic for manual method.

As will be seen in the Balance Sheet, part of the land next to the Central Exchange and building thereon has been sold. New workshops at Lay Road have been erected, and houses for part of the Chinese staff are nearly finished in Pingliang Road.

In June last year a strike of our Chinese employees occurred in connection with the student agitation and the Japanese boycott. Thanks to the foreign staff and the ladies who volunteered as operators we were able to carry on a limited service. Steps have since then been taken by which foreign operators, trained and supplementary to that of our ordinary staff, can be called on in the event of future interruptions of the like nature.

HOUSING PROVISION

In addition, by increased housing provision for the Chinese staff: educational technical classes; the formation of a Provident Fund, the benefits of which are in proportion to length and goodness of service; and, last and by no means least, the fact that most of the Company's Chinese employees have been and are still engaged by contracts for three years, with wages which have been on a gradually increasing scale, with the addition of bonuses amounting to two months' pay per annum paid quarterly and at the Chinese New Year, and forfeited under certain circumstances; such precautions, it is hoped by the directors, will prove efficient means of prevention as well as treatment of strike infections.

On the 14th of March last, Mr. Oberg's position in the Company as Secretary and General Manager came to an end and on the coming into force of the provisions of the New Ordinance for China Companies, he being of Swedish nationality.

That position began with the Company's existence, whose conception as well as to be attributed to Mr. Oberg. His birth and early growth took place under circumstances regarded as by no means favorable by most of the local expert telephone authorities. Notwithstanding, the end of its first—the Boxer—year witnessed a larger number of subscribers than had the predecessor company at any time on its list.

Your directors consider that whatever success the Company has had, Mr. Oberg, by his efficient, assiduous and unsparring efforts, has contributed thereto so large a share, that substantial recognition of his service should be expressed by the shareholders at this meeting.

TRIBUTE IS PAID

If the Company's staff, past and present, foreign and Chinese, had a word to say in this matter, their tribute to his management, so far as his relations with them have been concerned, would be in accord with that of the directors. After considering various ways of formulating the Company's thanks to Mr. Oberg for his long and valuable services as Secretary and General Manager, and some measure of compensation for his having to vacate that position.

your directors decided to recommend their fellow shareholders, as set forth in their Report to pay him as a bonus, a sum equivalent to one year's salary, plus one month's salary for each year of service viz: Tails 35,000.00.

The present staff, I understand, is about to present Mr. Oberg with some token expressive of their regard for him as their late chief, and, I may add that we directors also have something of the kind in view.

On the 14th of March last, Mr. P. H. Cole, Engineer-in-Chief acting as General Manager and Mr. C. W. Porter, Assistant Secretary and acting as Secretary, were respectively appointed General Manager and Secretary.

ACCOUNTS FOR YEAR

With regard to the Accounts for the year ending March 31, your directors hope you will regard them as satisfactory under the circumstances of the year. Omitting cents the various figures are quoted.

Working expenditure increased Tails 41,247 the bulk of this due to extra expenses in connection with the strikes, increase of wages, coal, repair and maintenance material.

Working Revenue shows a total increase under its 3 headings of Tails 65,448 over the previous year's similar income, making an increase in the balance carried over to Profit and Loss Account of Tails 24,202 on that of 1919.

On the debit side of the Profit and Loss Account, the figures with the exception of the amounts set aside for depreciation are practically the same as for 1919—Depreciation being Tails 49,381 higher, chiefly because of raising that on overhead construction from 3 to 10 percent, representing what our engineer-in-Chief considers a better approximation to the true rate of wastage/overhead.

The credit balance is Tails 10,381 over that of the preceding year.

On the other side of the account, note the entire under redemption of debentures and profit on sale of part of the Overbeck Property to be referred to in connection with the balance sheet figures, to which we now refer.

LIABILITIES

Under Liabilities occur a decrease of the debenture issued from redemption amounting to Tails 10,000.

Various increases occur under the headings of Sale of the last of the unissued shares amounting to Tails 10,150; Reserve to Tails 34,185 against possible loss in Investments, to Tails 16,475.

CONSTRUCTION COST

A re-arrangement of the statement of assets has been made, overhead being separated from underground construction together showing an increase over those of 1919 amounting to Tails 19,747.

NORTHERN ARMY IS EXPECTED TO OCCUPY HUNAN

(China Press Correspondence)

Siangtan, Hunan, May 20.—There seems to be every indication that there is to be considerable change in the disposition of the Southern Troops of occupation in Hunan. For some days now, the representatives of General Wu Pei-fu have been commanding all sorts of boats, steam and sail variety, and taking them south to Hengchow.

At the same time a rumor is spreading that on May 21, General Wu will march upon Changsha and relieve Chang Ching-yao quietly and peacefully if possible, forcibly if necessary.

It is most likely that the wish in the hearts of many is the father of the thought. But it is undoubtedly true that Wu Pei-fu is giving Chang Ching-yao some anxious nights just now. That Wu is really leaving Hengchow to come North there is not the slightest doubt. In fact his troops are already within 30 miles of Changsha at Chuehchow. The problem which Chang Ching-yao would like to have the solution to is whether Wu Pei-fu intends peacefully to pass through Changsha and transfer to the North of the Yangtze as the published programs say he will or will Wu en passant try to replace Chang as Tuchen of Hunan. There is mutual distrust and this mutual distrust may at any moment result in open hostilities.

There is no doubt that the Northern occupation has greatly retarded business prosperity in the province. In our own city a large percentage of shops have lost so heavily that for the present they are not resuming business. Most native banks are out of commission as they cannot recall loans that they have made nor realise on investments. The one ray of hope is the rice export business which is at present in full swing.

Three river steamship companies are not only utilising their steamers but also tugs and lighters to export our abundance of rice. Our standard quality of rice retails on the streets for less than $5.00 per picul which is slightly cheaper than in Shanghai at present! Another argument for better transportation facilities—that prices for and supply of commodities may be more equalised throughout the country.

Empire Day Observed By Tokio Embassy

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, May 24.—Empire Day was celebrated this year with unusually elaborate gatherings at the Embassy and at the Consulates throughout Japan.

A garden party was held at the Embassy at Tokio. Sir Charles Elliot made a speech of welcome to his guests on their arrival, after which a children's festival took place.

There were similar gatherings of the British at Yokohama and Kobe.

Maniac Kills Noted Physician

Dr. George E. Brewer

Thomas W. Simpkin

Dr. James Wright Markoe

Marked by arrows

Dr. James Wright Markoe, one of America's most noted physicians, who was shot and killed while at service in St. George's Church, New York, by Thomas W. Simpkin, a madman who but recently was released from a Virginia insane asylum as "not dangerous, although a paranoid." Dr. George E. Brewer, a famous surgeon, was shot in the leg while attempting to overpower the maniac. Dr. Markoe was the late

J. Pierpont Morgan's physician for many years. Mr. Morgan's son-in-law, Herbert L. Satterler, a prominent lawyer, and formerly Assistant Secretary of the Navy, narrowly escaped death when Simpkin fired a shot at him at close range. Dr. Markoe was struck down while taking up the offering from a congregation composed of the most prominent New Yorkers.

Warders Declare That Prisoners Are Underfed

Twelve warders of the same number of penitentiaries of the districts of Shanghai and Hainan have filed a petition with the Kiangsu Provincial High Procure, asking for a more liberal allowance of prison ration in view of the high cost of food stuff.

The message said the present allowance of $1.80 per month is not sufficient as the cost of rice alone is $1.10 per picul. The warders suggested that the monthly allowance be increased from $1.80 to 2.40.

Honigsberg Company Wins In Suit Over Question Of Living Costs In Shanghai

as shall have been paid by said employer for the passage of his wife from San Francisco to Shanghai.

Defendant undertakes on his part that he "will not take employment with any firm, person or corporation, competing with the said company in any manner at Shanghai, China, or in any other place in China where the said company has or may have a branch of its business within two years from the expiration, or other or sooner determination, of this agreement.

It is not claimed that plaintiff has failed to observe any of these provisions. Although not expressly required thereby, plaintiff, it is admitted, furnished both defendant and his wife with first class passage from San Francisco to Shanghai and also with additional money for expenses on the journey which was completed by arrival here about March 10.

On April 15, defendant admitted, defendant is further admitted, defendant promised an increase of $25.00 per month and on April 24 he was called, in company with plaintiff's manager, to the office of the President, Mr. Seitz, who testified that he had heard of defendant seeking other employment and inquired if it were true but that defendant denied it. In his testimony, however, defendant admits that he had sought other employment and was then negotiating with Dodge and Seymour for a position at a salary of $225.00 per month. On April 26 he mailed a letter of resignation and two days later sent another letter (Exhibit A) offering "to refund all expenses incurred by myself while enroute from San Francisco to Shanghai, paid by you."

and asking for "a letter confirming cancellation of my contract." To this plaintiff replied on May 3, declining to accept his resignation and to waive its rights under the contract and on the same day defendant left his employment. This action to enforce the contract was commenced on May 10, setting up the contract and alleging its wrongful breach. Defendant, after admitting of practically all the averments of the petition except that the breach was wrongful but asking that the contract "be set aside and declared null, void and of no effect," on the ground that

"at the signing thereof, the plaintiff, through its duly authorized agent and attorney, H. S. Honigsberg, with full knowledge of the manner and style in which the said defendant had previously lived at San Francisco, California, falsely and fraudulently represented to said defendant that a married couple could live in Shanghai and China in the same manner and style as he, the said defendant, and his wife to be had been living in San Francisco, California, for the sum of One Hundred and Sixty Dollars ($160.00) per month."

Plaintiff's manager admits that he "told Mr. Jones that it would cost him around $160.00 a month to live in Shanghai as a married man." He denies, however, any knowledge as to defendant's manner and style of living in San Francisco and explains that he (the manager) referred to board and lodging, only not at a hotel or in the form of housekeeping but at one of the cheaper boarding houses patronized by mechanics. He based the statement, he says, upon the experience of his own employees who were paying that amount for board and lodging when he left Shanghai in the previous October. One of these employees (Watson) testifies that and tire themselves unnecessarily, thinking to cure their constipation by spasmodic fits of overexertion. Others more sensible, take reasonable exercise daily, and use the little gentle-as-nature laxatives, Pinkettes, occasionally, thus ensuring healthy regularity. Of druggists, or post free, 60 cents the vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

up to December last he was paying $150.00 per month for board and room for himself and wife and that he knew of another married mechanic who was paying the same and that since then he has been paying $165.00 for the same. Mr. Seitz, the President of the Company, corroborates the estimate and while defendant states that Watson recently told him he was paying $185.00 per month, no foundation was laid for this impeachment during the examination of Watson while the assailed statement of plaintiff's manager relates to a much earlier period.

But the question which we have here to determine is not merely whether that statement was true. For, in order to justify the rescission of this contract, defendant must prove not only that it was untrue but also, that it was, as alleged, fraudulent. As declared in the book,

"The general rule is that to constitute actionable fraud it must appear: (1) That defendant made a material representation; (2) that it was false; (3) that when he made it he knew that it was false, or made it recklessly, without any knowledge of its truth and as a positive assertion; (4) that he made it with the intention that it should be acted upon by plaintiff; (5) that plaintiff acted in reliance upon it; and (6) that he thereby suffered injury."

All of these elements then must be established by the party who alleges fraud—which is never presumed. Without dwelling further upon the other elements above set forth let us inquire whether defendant has met the burden of proving numbers 5 and 6. In other words has he established, by a preponderance of the evidence, that he "acted in reliance upon" the representation complained of and "that he thereby suffered injury?" For without such a showing it would not avail him to establish the other elements.

Defendant states that he understood plaintiff's manager to mean that his entire necessary expense in Shanghai would not exceed $150 to $160 per month and that it was because he believed that statement that he accepted the employment and came to China. But he admits that he did not question the manager as to what the latter meant by the phrase "living expenses" and other portions of his testimony show that he could not reasonably have given the phrase as wide a scope as he claims; for he says "on the day after I signed the contract he stated that he would give me $50 more on the month, that he did not think I could get by on $300."

How could defendant understand that all his necessary expenses would fall within $150 to $160 per month when he was distinctly informed that in the manager's opinion he could not "get by on $300?" For the phrase "get by" is about as definite in popular parlance as the phrase "living expenses." Again a broad interpretation of the latter phrase might include medical attendance but defendant could hardly have relied upon such an interpretation for that item is expressly provided for in the contract.

Moreover not only did defendant fail to interrogate the manager as regards what he meant by "living expenses" but he made no inquiries elsewhere although he already knew in Francisco Mr. Nelson from Shanghai at whose mother's boarding house that from March 10 to April 1 he paid $175.00 for board but he does not claim to have charged plaintiff's manager with having defrauded him because of the statement complained of. He also claims to have spent $400.00 during April but in his second letter of resignation written almost at the end of the month he says nothing about having been defrauded nor is considering the contract in any way affected by said statement. On the contrary he treats the contract as fully in force and offers "to refund all expenses paid by you" in order to secure its cancellation. His interview with Mr. Seitz, the President of the Company, on April 24, would seem to have afforded him an opportunity for complaint regarding the now alleged misrepresentation had he relied on it then but Mr. Seitz testifies that he did not and defendant does not claim that he did. The manager testifies that defendant never mentioned the higher cost of living as a ground for leaving plaintiff's employment and defendant admits that when he did leave on May 3 he gave as his sole reason that his services were not considered satisfactory. It is not indicated by his letter of May 7, written after he had left and repudiated the contract that he find any claim of misrepresentation. If defendant had relied thereon to the extent that he now claims it would naturally have figured in the controversy very early, whereas it does not appear to have been mentioned until defendant found a chance to earn $225, with Dodge and Seymour.

Finally it is to be noted that the contract does not call for defendant's employment at Shanghai alone but "at any other place in Shanghai or at which the said Company has or may have branches."

The testimony is undisputed that plaintiff had and has under contemplation the opening of a branch at Peking to which defendant was to be sent, and the cost of living at Shanghai could hardly have been the sole, or even the controlling, consideration in accepting employment.

The burden is on defendant to prove clearly his reliance on the representation complained of and his mere statement that he relied thereon will hardly suffice if his conduct is inconsistent with such reliance.

Again does defendant show that he was damaged by the representation? Had he been induced to give up a position to come to Shanghai on a salary of $160.00 per month under the representation that it would cover all expenses a very different situation would have been presented; but defendant does not claim that any feature of the contract was misrepresented. On the contrary his compensation, which was originally fixed at $300.00 a month was voluntarily increased to $350.00 and later to $375.00, whereas in San Francisco he was receiving, according to his own statement, $50.00 per week with certain perquisites which at best would amount to $100.00 or more less than the contracted salary in Shanghai while according to the witness Rick, who knew defendant in San Francisco $50.00 per week covered his whole salary. Defendant claims, indeed, that he was able to save some money in San Francisco but that was before his marriage which event necessarily changed the whole situation.

We are not convinced that a salary of $225.00, $250.00 or even $275.00 per month in San Francisco was better than one of $375.00 in China with free "medical attention" and traveling expenses in Shanghai. And unless we could so find we could not determine that plaintiff has yet incurred damages by entering into this contract. And as was said by Federal Judge Severens of the Eastern Michigan District "if none (damages) ever result there is no injury and of course no action in any form can be maintained."

A contract is not a mere "scrap of paper." It is a solemn and binding obligation and ought to be treated as such—not only by the parties thereto but by the Courts and all others who have occasion to deal with it. Far better is it that individuals occasionally incur inconvenience or even damage than that the inviolability of contracts, upon which rests the security of the business world, should be impaired.

There are, indeed, certain recognized grounds upon which a contract once entered into may be set aside; but these are safeguarded and restricted and may be invoked only by those who are prepared to meet the conditions which the law imposes. If, as here, the application for relief is based on the sole ground that a certain representation was fraudulent, the applicant must show by a preponderance of the evidence that all the elements of legal fraud are present. We are unable to find that defendant has done so and it is unnecessary to consider the further question whether he has established any. After the close of the trial, and indeed after the arguments of counsel, defendant asked leave to file an amended answer and counterclaim setting up that the contract "was entered into by the defendant on account of a mutual mistake made by the parties." But such an amendment would "substantially change the cause of action" set up in defendant's counterclaim and does not therefore come within the statute providing for amendments. Moreover to allow such an amendment now would mean a retrial of the case when the facts must have been quite as well known to plaintiff at the beginning of the recent trial as they are now.

But the supplemental petition which plaintiff tenders in no way changes the cause of action and requires no further evidence. It amounts to nothing more indeed than the amplification of the prayer from a general to a specific one asking for an injunction, on the facts admitted, to prevent defendant's contemplated breach of paragraph 6 of the contract. That paragraph is explicit and enforceable within the doctrine already laid down by this Court, being limited in time if not in place. In view of defendant's own testimony that in spite of it he has sought similar employment elsewhere in Shanghai we think that defendant is entitled to this branch of relief sought.

It appears from the evidence that plaintiff's advances to defendant, and other expense incurred in his behalf, amount to about One Thousand ($1000.00) Dollars. There are other possible items of damage such as delay in opening a branch at Peking, where it was intended to send defendant; but no testimony is offered to base a judgment on this item. Nor, although there is testimony that plaintiff has been damaged by this breach of the contract and that it will be several months before a substitute can be found, is there evidence upon which we could base a finding of damages under this head.

Defendant's motion to amend is overruled, the supplemental petition is permitted to be filed, and it is accordingly considered and adjudged that the defendant take nothing by his counterclaim; that plaintiff recover from defendant the sum of One Thousand ($1000) Dollars U.S. currency together with his costs; and that defendant be enjoined from taking employment within two years "with any firm, person or corporation competing with the said plaintiff company in any manner at Shanghai, China, or in any place in China where the said company has or may have a branch of its business."

No. 2718.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPAL COUNCIL, 6 PER CENT.
STERLING LOAN, 1920.

Amount $750,000
Price of Issue £100 per cent.

UNDER the authority of Resolution VII passed at the Annual Meeting of Ratepayers on April 7, 1920, the Council hereby invites applications for Bearer Debentures (with coupons attached) in the 6 percent Sterling Loan of 1920, which is issued on the following terms:

(1) Debentures to Bearer, with Sterling interest coupons attached, will be issued at £100 per cent in denominations of £1,000, £500, £100 and £50.

(2) The Debentures of this issue will bear interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year by sterling demand draft on London at par, or in silver (local currency) at the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation's Shanghai current demand buying rate on London on date of presentation of the relative coupon. The first payment of interest will be made on December 31, 1920.

(3) Applications, accompanied by payment in full, will be received by the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, on and after May 1, up to and including June 30, 1920, the Council reserving to itself the right of closing the subscription lists on any day previous to June 30, 1920, by Notification in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai.

(4) Payment on application will be accepted in Silver (local currency) at the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation's current selling T.T. rate on London and will bear interest from date of payment, or in Sterling by T.T. or Demand Draft on London. Interest on payments made in Sterling will only accrue from the date on which the relative remittances are received by the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, London.

The cost of all telegrams involved through payment by Sterling T.T. shall be paid by the applicant.

Payment will be acknowledged by Banker's Receipt pending issue of the Debentures. In the event of any applicant not being allotted the full amount applied for, the amount over-applied for will be repaid in full, plus interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum from the date payment was received in Shanghai or London to the due date of repayment in Shanghai, as notified to the applicant by special notice from the Council.

(5) The Loan will be redeemed at par on June 30, 1950, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on June 30, 1930, and/or on any subsequent date or dates on which the half-yearly interest is payable, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai. In the event of any partial redemption of the loan the numbers of the Debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing. The numbers of such drawn Debentures will be notified in the Municipal Gazette and Public Press of Shanghai not less than three months prior to the date of repayment.

Application forms can be obtained on and after May 1, from the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, No. 12 The Bund, or from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, 248 Kiangsue Road, to whom all enquiries should be addressed.

Hankow Market

FINANCE AND MONEY MARKET
We have to report a quiet week with Sterling and Gold Dollar bills offering on the 15th inst. when a fair amount of business was done. There was a small demand for remittance and some interbank business. The T.T. on Shanghai remained steady at 96.75 Chinese market, until the 14th when it fell to 96.55. Foreign Banks imported and quote about 96.8-96.85. Dollars fell from 70.8-71 Chinese market to 70.15-70.35 buyers and sellers respectively. Interest rose from 11 percent to 14 percent and increased at the close of the week to 18 percent. Changsha Exchange Nominal.

IMPORTS
We have to report a dull and "dry" market consequent on the recent failures and tightening up of Native Bank credits. Local values show a slight decline which we think is only temporary and caused by a complete lack of inquiry. A small business in 1 1/2 Yarn is reported from local stocks.

EXPORTS
No business is reported and market very quiet.

Catalogued for sale: 2,305,319

Sold 559,267 lbs. (about 249 tons).

There has been a further big drop in prices since last week.

At the auctions today buying was practically confined to "bears" covering at their own figure, and one lot after another had to be withdrawn.

Singapore Standard Ribbed

Smoked Sheet was very difficult of sale and only comparatively few lots changed hands during the whole of the auctions. One lot realised 75 1/2 cents and two lots 74 1/2, but the market dropped steadily and at the close of the sales business was done at 71 1/2 cents for Standard Sheet. The demand for Off Quality Sheet was still poorer.

Singapore Standard First Latex Crepe was on offer in limited quantities only, and was the subject of quite strong competition at times. 79 cents was paid freely at the beginning, but the price declined about 1/2 cent towards the close.

There was a fair demand for Fine Brown and Lower Grades of Crepe, these showing an average decline of about 5-6 cents on the week.

Standard Sheet has lost 1 1/2 cents since last week and Standard Crepe 6 1/2 cents.

D'Annunzio IgnoredBy Fiuman Council*It Sends Envoys To Deal Direct*With Italian Government—*Fears Red Uprising

Fiume, April 15 (Associated Press).—Captain Gabriele d'Annunzio has been completely ignored by the Fiuman National Council in the formulation of demands for a settlement of problems relative to the future status of this city. Delegates appointed by the council will meet Premier Nitti and carry on direct negotiations with the Italian Government. Three of these delegates are already in Rome.

Hungarian Bolsheviks have been gathering here recently, some of them being brought into the city in Captain d'Annunzio's motor cars.

Charges were made in the National Council that the will of the majority had been thwarted and that of a minority carried out. One member declared that the problem of the city's future must be settled immediately.

"We are in the midst of terrible unrest," he said. "The city is in danger of being swept by Bolshe-

Fiume Situation Critical

Trieste, April 11.—Conditions in Fiume are becoming more critical daily owing to factional quarrels among the d'Annunzio troops, labor unrest and the lack of food and work.

Captain d'Annunzio has sent to Rome a committee headed by Signor di Ambrisi, Chief Secretary to Mayor Gigante, to discuss with

Premier Nitti plans for a relaxation of the blockade of the city.

Paris, April 12.—It is not expected that the Fiume question will be taken up at the San Remo conference, according to the report in Italian peace delegation circles today. Foreign Minister Scialoja, however, will probably confer on the subject with the heads of the

Wood The Favorite

RETURNS in the poll of American voters which The Literary Digest is making show that General Leonard Wood leads all other Republicans and all Democrats in popular favor. The Digest is making the most extensive poll on record. It has asked 11,000,000 voters to record their preferences. Total returns for the first three weeks show that Gen. Wood has received 75,835 votes as first choice for President and 51,800 votes as second choice. One notable fact is that 6,000 Democrats have written in saying that they will vote for him.

Herbert Hoover stands second in the people's favor. He has 62,420 votes as a first choice and 31,765 as second choice; 24,600 Democrats and 23,123 Republicans have expressed their willingness to vote for him. Senator Hiram Johnson of California is running third, very close to Hoover, with 60,000 votes, of which 13,495 were cast by Democrats.

On the Democratic side not much interest is being shown. William C. McAdoo is leading with 18,000 votes. Gov. Edwards of New Jersey being second with 16,340 and President Wilson third with 14,758. Bryan and Cox come next with 9,000 each. Here is the table:

	First Choice	Second Choice	Democratic	Republican
Bryan	9,765	6,720	7,674	113
Clark	4,041	6,551	3,526	100
Cox	9,310	5,942	7,915	681
Edwards	16,340	7,956	10,428	3,773
Marshall	1,841	3,836	1,579	63
McAdoo	18,032	19,094	15,302	869
Palmer	3,449	6,239	3,025	84
Wilson	14,758	5,865	12,074	1,063

Rep.
Coolidge 6,134 17,721 1,342 5,625
Harding 16,007 12,410 1,416 12,827
Hoover 62,420 31,758 24,649 28,123
Hughes 16,166 24,659 1,509 12,475
Johnson 60,419 43,034 13,495 37,876
Lowden 27,908 28,009 3,068 22,537
Taft 8,881 17,353 1,746 5,783
Wood 75,835 51,804 6,336 59,701
Dew Soc. 4,084 153 785 257

The Digest points out that in the later voting Wood, Hoover and Johnson are running about even, one day's returns being Wood 14,888, Hoover 14,342 and Johnson 13,620.

Commenting on the poll, the Digest says: "The disparity between the total of Republican and Democratic votes continues large. General Wood's vote practically equals the vote cast for all the Democratic candidates. It must be pointed out in this connection, however, that the solid South, with the exception of the State of Texas, remains for the most part, to be heard from. At the same time, the table reveals that a total of 55,861 declared Democratic voters have voted for Republican candidates, as against a total of only 7,246 Republicans who voted for Democrats. Hoover and Johnson are receiving the bulk of this Democratic-Republican vote, while the hybridized Republican-Democrats favor Governor Edwards.

General Pershing, among the nearly five hundred candidates not mentioned on the table, has developed the most strength, with a total vote of 4,647 for first and 7,510 for second choice. Governor Capper, of Kansas, has 3,506, La Follette 3,299, and Senator Poindexter 1,047. Senator Hitchcock leads the unlisted Democrats with 1,785, Mr. Gerard has 1,302, Secretary Baker 826, and Senator Owen 661. Among the interesting scattered votes may be mentioned 254 for Charles M. Schwab, 123 for Senator Borah, 160 for Judge Gary, 7 for Edward M. House, 3 for Charles F. Murphy, 2 for Billy Sunday, 2 for Emma Goldman, and 1 for Douglas Fairbanks.

And now, kind reader, how do you stand on this momentous question? While you probably won't get a chance to vote this year, THE CHINA PRESS will at least afford you the pleasure of recording your preference. On page one you will find a slip all ready to be filled out. Cut it out and send it to us in order that the American community may find out how it stands on this big question.

Treaty Just And Workable

What Baruch Told The Senate Foreign Relations Committee About Terms

In the widespread discussion of John Maynard Keynes's book, "The Economic Consequences of the Peace," commentators have overlooked the fact that Bernard M. Baruch, economic adviser to the American delegation at Paris, testified in Washington last August (long before the book appeared) that Germany could not pay the indemnity that could be imposed under the terms of the treaty, nor would it be wise, nor to the interest of the rest of the world, to inflict a burden she could not bear. He said the treaty was severe, but just and workable.

Mr. Baruch spoke as a representative of the American Reparations Commission and presumably voiced the views of President Wilson. An examination of his testimony shows that many of Mr. Keynes's statements, which were accepted by the uninformed as revelations, contained, as a matter of fact, nothing not known and already avowed and advocated (with the exception of his remedies) by the American reparations experts.

Parts of the record of testimony on August 1, 1919, before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee are presented herewith:

Senator Knox—Just one more question. So far as you know, is there any disposition to impose upon Germany, through the instrumentality of the Reparations Commission, more than you think she can pay?

Mr. Baruch—Personally, I think so.

Senator Knox—You think there is such a disposition?

Mr. Baruch—It is a disposition born of the fact that she actually owes it. Germany actually owes more than she can pay.

Senator Knox—It is hardly a good business policy to lay upon your debtor more than he can pay. No good business man does that.

Mr. Baruch—The only remark I can make about it is that you are correct, and that was the disposition of the American delegation, from the President down. Back of this is exactly the viewpoint of the intelligent business man, and that is the view we took.

Senator Johnson of California—Just one question. Has a treaty been made that you gentlemen believe is incapable of being carried out by Germany?

Mr. Baruch—No, Sir.

Senator Johnson of California—Did you not just say that she would be unable to pay the amount of reparation?

Mr. Baruch—I think that the amount of reparation that is justly due she is unable to pay, but the Reparations Commission will say how much she can pay, and that will be the amount. For instance, if the Reparations Commission fixed, say, $50,000,000,000 or $100,000,000,000, that would be unworkable because she could not pay it. You will find it is drawn up with extreme care. It was done in that way to avoid guesswork. It was almost one by one the commissions appointed, and it was still sitting when we left Paris. Great care was taken to draw this so that it would work, and I think that it will work. There is no question in my mind that it will work.

Senator Johnson of California—It will work, providing that the bill be scaled down by the Reparations Commission?

Mr. Baruch—Provided they will scale it down to what Germany can pay.

Senator Johnson of California—That is what you mean?

Mr. Baruch—Yes, Sir. Senator Johnson of California—So that, on the figures as obtainable and presentable now, the bill is one that you say you do not think Germany can pay, but you rely upon the fact that the good sense of the Reparations Commission will scale the amount down to a point commensurate with the ability of Germany?

Mr. Baruch—Yes; and within that power it has been left so that it would work. It is workable; there is no question about that.

Senator Johnson of California—They have the power and the contrary power as well?

Mr. Baruch—Contrary power? What do you mean?

Senator Johnson of California—That is, the power to scale down and the discretion to fix as well the amount that might not be scaled down.

SEVERE AND HARD, BUT JUST

Mr. Baruch—To fix the amount. But, of course, if the amount is fixed, personally, I think that will be the most workable treatment—to fix with Germany the amount which they themselves think they could pay. Of course, no one would fix an amount against a debtor that he did not think the debtor could pay. I do not think the world realizes what a severe and hard, though eminently just, treaty has been put upon Germany.

Senator Harding—Why do you say that [Germany's] solvency is to the interest of America, when the Central Powers are the most formidable commercial rivals of the world? Can you imagine the world being prosperous while 130,000,000 people right in the center of the industrial population are not prosperous? Can you imagine prosperity without the financial prosperity of the Central Powers, with the finances of Italy, France and of Belgium and their industrial life, and to a large extent England's, depending on what they are going to receive from these people? In that way this reflects upon us. It is a great big partnership. We cannot separate ourselves from it. It is of vast consequence to America.

Senator Johnson—I want to get your viewpoint. Our activities will be wholly altruistic?

Mr. Baruch—I would say no to that, for this reason: The spirit and the wisdom of the carrying out of this Reparations Commission is a matter of dollars and cents in the United States of America, because upon the wisdom of those decisions depend the financial and the industrial conditions of the world for years to come, perhaps for many generations.

Senator Johnson—Then it is from the world standpoint and for the stabilizing of the world?

OUR INTEREST INVOLVED

Mr. Baruch—And from our own personal interests, Germany was a very large customer of ours. And this Reparations Commission does not deal alone with Germany, but with all the great central empires, and there are some 120,000,000 to 150,000,000 people involved in this. And it is a matter about which we are moved by great altruistic ideas primarily, but it is also a matter of deep self-interest.

Senator Johnson—I am inquiring only to get your view. I am not speaking in hostility to that view or in criticism of it.

Mr. Baruch—I quite appreciate that.

Senator Johnson—You are familiar with the coal situation, are you?

Mr. Baruch—I am familiar with this part of the treaty. The last clause of the annex, Paragraph 10, reads:

If the commission shall determine that the full exercise of the foregoing options would interfere unduly with the industrial requirements of Germany, the commission is authorized to postpone or to cancel deliveries, and in so doing to settle all questions of priority; but the coal to replace coal from destroyed mines shall receive priority over other deliveries.

I wrote that clause myself, Senator.

Senator Johnson—So that it is left with the commission to determine whether the options interfere and whether they shall be fulfilled?

PURPOSE BACK TO TERMS

Mr. Baruch—Yes, Sir. The intent of this was that Germany should pay what she ought to pay and could pay, and to give her an opportunity to pay it without any undue interference in the working out of payments.

Senator Johnson—Wherein is the severity and harshness of that?

Mr. Baruch—Well, that is not so taken by itself as it is repeated by the Yogi over and over lands him in Nirvana, where the human race ceases from troubling and suppressed desires are at rest. Mr. Dreiser's ejaculation is one of weariness, a puzzled weariness. It is American for Voltaire's "Why is anything?" and Montaigne's "What do I know?" Mr. Dreiser has pondered on everything from the birth of Brahma to the Lusk raiders; he has digested history, chemistry, Nietzsche, Carlyle, Harriet Beecher Stowe, the Woolworth Tower, Sam Gamgee, Ashtoreth, the hypocrisy of Nature and Mayor Hylan's Theory of Buses—vanitas, vanitatum, all is Hey rub-a-dub-dub!

Then he bethought himself of a touch of the "The House of Life," a sort of Apologia pro vita sua. Whatever may be said of life, the book does not inspire mystery, terror or wonder. It is good, solid, ponderous, bourgeois skepticism, with a tremendous piece of satire buttressed by the end called "The Court of Progress, which is worth all the rest of the iterations of the obvious that precede it.

The "Jacket" of "Hey Rub-a-dub-dub" tells us that the essays in the book are the mature expressions of Mr. Dreiser's beliefs and theories. But of theories and beliefs we find none. The author of "The Genius," so far as we can see, never had any beliefs of theories. He is an inarticulate wild Whitman. He may be a Balzac who can't visualize a hero in a vast, clumsy shadow moving in worlds unrealized. He is potentially a mystic, a realist, a romantic, an ironist—but only potentially. He has heaved many trails, but prefers to climb up the forest and study the landscape before finishing them. After all, why not? Are not horizons the end of every man's desire?

These essays concern "Change," "Some Aspects of Our National Character," "The American Financier," "Personality," "The Toll of the Laborer," "The Reformer,"

Future Of 'Amazonia'

Brazil's Huge River Valley Begins Unprecedented Agricultural And Industrial Activity

(New York Times)

Amazonia, the name given by the natives to the region comprising the 3,000,000 square miles drained by the Amazon River and its tributaries in North and South America, rich in mineral deposits and described as an agricultural Eldorado, is on the eve of industrial activity such as it has never known, despite the lapse of its hitherto chief industry, the production of rubber, according to a traveler who recently covered 10,000 miles of the little-known district. Strangely, it is mainly the drop in the price of rubber, and somewhat to conditions growing out of the war, that has revealed this rosy future to "Amazonians."

"The valley has been blessed by nature with an inexhaustible supply of the raw materials which the world needs today in the work of reconstruction following years of war," says John F. Barry, a member of the expedition recently formed in connection with the Industrial Department of the Port of Para to study the industrial possibilities of the valley, "and that the European countries are beginning to find this out is shown by the fact that since the armistice British, Italian, French, German and Scandinavian have been actively making investigations in the valley."

"So long as rubber commanded a high price on the market—and it was once as high as $2.50 a pound, only it is under 50 cents now—the valley has been almost entirely undeveloped, and all other development work, and the hundreds of valuable products which grew wild in the forests, or were readily capable of extensive cultivation, were altogether neglected, and labor, attracted by the lure of wages, was engaged in that industry and none was available for agriculture."

"No foodstuffs were raised locally on anything like a commercial scale, and the supplies of the necessities of life for the inhabitants of the valley had to be brought in from outside. The food for the rubber gatherers had then to be transported up river often for great distances—2,000 to 3,000 miles—thereby adding enormously to the cost of producing 'Para' rubber."

"The war brought a shortage of world tonnage; there were no steamers available to carry food to the Amazon and the valley was thrown on its own resources. It proved fortunate. Today there is scarcely a house or settlement to be found in the valley and its cultivation is left to the rubber banks on which corn, beans, rice, mandioca, vegetables, and fruits of many kinds are planted."

"The laborers are eating better and more wholesome food than the dried fish and meat on which they have lived, and the conditions of life and the cost of living have been immeasurably improved. It is estimated that the actual cost of gathering rubber is lower today than ever before in the history of the valley. The new era is breaking.

"The valley possesses mineral resources and forest resources which have as yet been almost untouched, if we exclude rubber. The forests contain firs in infinite variety, many of them of great commercial value. There are oil-bearing aunts from which illuminating, lubricating, and edible oils can be extracted, and the British and Italians are actively engaged in development along these lines. The forests of the State of Para alone contain upward of 300 varieties of timber, and there are many cabinet woods which would be almost priceless if placed in the New York market."

"There are trees which give a pulp suitable for paper making, bark needed in the tanning industry, vegetable dyes, balata, gums, resins, medicinal plants in endless variety. Of Brazil nuts and acaquayari not a tenth part is gathered each year."

"The mineral wealth includes coal, iron, tin, platinum, gold, silver and many other precious metals, some of which have already been worked in a small way. Although these minerals are known to exist, it is not yet known in what quantities, as the upper reaches of the Amazon and its affluents have not yet been properly explored, much less prospected for minerals. Oil has been discovered near Iquitos and on the border of Bolivia, up the Maderia River."

"We discovered that the banks of the rivers in by far the greater part are not subjected to inundation after the rains, as the casual reader of books on the Amazon would be led to believe; and we also learned that the farmers and landowners in the areas subject to annual inundation view this overflow of the river banks, not with fear and regret, but with pleasure. The layer of alluvial soil deposited on the lands is an excellent fertilizer. As soon as the water subsides the ground is cleared and ready for immediate planting."

"It is only within recent years that the farmers have come to appreciate the value to them of the annual inundation, and today rice, corn, sugar cane, beans, mandioca, cotton, fruits and vegetables of all kinds are planted as soon as the flood subsides. The soil thus fertilized is amazingly productive. Beans, for instance, mature in thirty days; mandioca and corn, in five months; and sugar cane in nine months or less."

"Cotton is going to play an important role in the future history of the development of Amazonia, I venture to predict. Already there are thirty days; mandioca and corn, in five months; and sugar cane in nine months or less."

"The laborers are eating better and more wholesome food than the dried fish and meat on which they have lived, and the conditions of life and the cost of living have been immeasurably improved. It is estimated that the actual cost

Mr. Dreiser Talks Of Many Things

BY BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

Hey Rub-a-dub-dub. By Theodore Dreiser. New York: Boni and Liveright.

In the midway of this his moral life, having found himself astray and gone from the path of duty, Mr. Dreiser utters the curious onomatopoeic yawn, "Hey Rub-a-dub-dub!" Psychologically, Hey rub-a-dub-dub is the very opposite of the syllable Om, which repeated by the Yogi over and over lands him in Nirvana, where the human race ceases from troubling and suppressed desires are at rest.

Mr. Dreiser's ejaculation is one of weariness, a puzzled weariness. It is American for Voltaire's "Why is anything?" and Montaigne's "What do I know?" Mr. Dreiser has pondered on everything from the birth of Brahma to the Lusk raiders; he has digested history, chemistry, Nietzsche, Carlyle, Harriet Beecher Stowe, the Woolworth Tower, Sam Gamgee, Ashtoreth, the hypocrisy of Nature and Mayor Hylan's Theory of Buses—vanitas, vanitatum, all is Hey rub-a-dub-dub!

Then he bethought himself of a touch of the "The House of Life," a sort of Apologia pro vita sua. Whatever may be said of life, the book does not inspire mystery, terror or wonder. It is good, solid, ponderous, bourgeois skepticism, with a tremendous piece of satire buttressed by the end called "The Court of Progress, which is worth all the rest of the iterations of the obvious that precede it.

The "Jacket" of "Hey Rub-a-dub-dub" tells us that the essays in the book are the mature expressions of Mr. Dreiser's beliefs and theories. But of theories and beliefs we find none. The author of "The Genius," so far as we can see, never had any beliefs of theories. He is an inarticulate wild Whitman. He may be a Balzac who can't visualize a hero in a vast, clumsy shadow moving in worlds unrealized. He is potentially a mystic, a realist, a romantic, an ironist—but only potentially. He has heaved many trails, but prefers to climb up the forest and study the landscape before finishing them. After all, why not? Are not horizons the end of every man's desire?

These essays concern "Change," "Some Aspects of Our National Character," "The American Financier," "Personality," "The Toll of the Laborer," "The Reformer,"

Period of World Republics (2,760,323). The Court of Progress, held in South Africa, is presided over by Nossus Podunkus, Grand Rereferendence of the Federated Musnud of the World. The world has become perfect, pure, moral, sleepy and stupid. This phantasmagoria is a celebration of the triumph of humanity over poets, cigarette fiends, saloon keepers, madams, socialists, Holy Rollers, artists, and the like. Ralph Waldo Trine, Harold Bell Wright, Gene Stratton Porter and others are the revered names. Nothing that exists today is spared. In that far-off divine event the world is ruled by Zany, Nizys, Dizzards, Lohbis, Huddy-Doddys, Gaberlunzies, Fuddys and others. It is a carnival, a charivari of color such as seldom has ever got on paper.

In "The Court of Progress," Mr. Dreiser has answered himself. All the question marks and pathetic yowls before life, nature and society in the rest of the book come to judgment in this cosmic spectacle—it is to laugh! methods of growing cotton and gathering, to teach the caboches is urgently needed if the future of this valuable industry is to be built on firm foundations.

"It is an amazing incongruity that food should ever have been imported into the valley, where enough rice, for instance, could be raised to feed the entire world; yet until two or three years ago rice was imported, some of it from China. The State Government of Amazonas is awake to these facts, and while we were in Manaus I read in the newspapers that inspectors had been appointed in certain centers to teach the planters how to handle their crops so as to obtain the highest prices."

The prediction is also made by Mr. Barry in his description of Amazonia in a bulletin of the Para American Union that sugar will also again be a great Amazonian industry, and he tells of the activities already in this direction. "In the past," he says in closing, "rubber overshadowed all other developments, but much water has run over the dam during the last five years. The Amazon Valley today is on the eve of an era of industrial activity, and the signs point to a future prosperity such as it has never known."

KOBE'S WAR HEROES

HONORED

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS
Dear Sir: Under separate cover I am sending you a photo of a rough model of the monument which is shortly to be erected in the Kasugano Cemetery, Kobe, in memory of the 22 young men connected with this place who volunteered for active service in the Great War and paid the supreme sacrifice. The following are the principal details:

"Kobe Boys"—Killed 22, of which 21 British and 1 French nationality. A public subscription list was circulated in Kobe among the Allies and their friends requesting donations and up to the time of writing a sum of Yen 35,555.08 has been collected, the list will be closed on the 31st instant.

Courageous
"Did you know I was engaged?" smiled Miss Crew.

"Really!" exclaimed Miss Vinnie Gare. "Who is the plucky man?"

A Good One
Joan (blushing)—Jack, mother was looking when you kissed me last night.

Jack—How did she take it.

"Well, she said she felt satisfied that you meant business."

A Reminder
"How do you like the new dress?"

"Hub, they remind me of a popular teacher."

"What do you mean?"

"Standing Room Only."

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Hall's Distemper is a unique preparation and has the recommendation of leading sanitary authorities, architects, and decorators everywhere.

Avoid disappointment by refusing substitutes which do not possess its advantages.

Romance As An Adventurer In Odd Places

BY ROBERT C. M. BROWN

"I want you to understand that no son of mine can squander three thousand dollars in four months and get away with it! What do you mean by it, young man? You ought to be ashamed! What have you got to say for yourself? Come on, speak up!" Thus Henry L. Cantor regarded his son, Herbert, as he walked rapidly back and forth in the living room of their home, chewing a large black cigar to shreds.

"Well, dad, I cannot tell a lie. I did it with a little friend in the theater."

"Don't get so flippant, you young ingrate! I'll show you what's what! I'm going to put you to work tomorrow in one of my department stores, and not another cent of my money will you see until you make good there!"

Quick Action Corn Cure

"Get-It" Stops Pain Instantly and Corn Soon Lifts Right Off.

A few drops of "Get-It" quenches corn pains like water quenches fire. Gives you immediate relief.

"Get-It" Feels It Out

The corn begins to lose its grip at once. In a day or two it is so loose that you can lift it off, roots and all. 'Twist thumb and finger. That's the last of it. As millions have found out, it is the simple, effective and common-sense way to be rid of corns.

Mr. Cantor continued his arraignment to put his suggestion in the form of a challenge so that his son could not refuse and still hold his self respect. Herbert finally decided to start work the next morning at a quarter of seven on a salary of $15 a week. Fifteen dollars a week! And he had been spending on the average of a hundred and fifty for the past four months. Well, he would show the "Governor" that he was a man and could do it!

"It's simply terrible the way you are carrying on, Caroline, I've absolutely lost all patience with you! You've gone through college and what good has it done you! Not one bit. You don't know how to cook, you can't make a bed, you can't keep house, you can't do a thing but powder that little nose of yours and buy expensive clothes. What you need is some good hard work. You ought to get down on your knees and scrub floors!"

DECIDED LECTURE

It was in this manner that Mr. Chauncey Vangulder gave his daughter the last of a long series of lectures upon her extravagance and idleness.

"Father, wouldn't I look sweet scrubbing floors? Can you imagine anything more ridiculous! Caroline Vangulder scrubbing floors!"

"Well, that's just what you're going to do. And you're going to start in tomorrow morning at exactly half-past six. I've had a talk with Henry L. Cantor and he has agreed to give you a job at $12 a week."

What? Why, father, are you going out of your mind?"

Mr. Vangulder wasn't going out of his mind in the least, and he proved it to his daughter by making her realize that she simply had to do it or she would not get a cent more from him until she had worked until Mr. Vangulder was satisfied.

At a quarter of seven Herbert was on the job. The first thing he had to do was to sweep what seemed to him at least three miles of rough basement floor. By the time he was half through he discovered seventeen extra muscles in his back that he never knew he had before. He was very tired and disgusted when he came to the end of that floor. Then he was told that he was supposed to sweep out the store-room as well. His first impulse was to knock the head porter flat on his back for this.

A QUEER MEETING

When he got to the store-room he found that some one was scrubbing the floor, and he realized in a moment that the floor should have been swept before it was scrubbed.

"Say, what's the big idea?" he burst out. "This floor should be swept before you start scrubbing it. Don't you know that?"

He noticed what a queer looking figure it was on the floor. Hair coming down and covered from head to foot with a coating of suds, knelt the most comically pathetic figure he had ever seen. He would have burst out laughing if it hadn't been for the pathetic expression on the poor girl's be-smudged face. Any one could see that she was almost exhausted.

"I've been scrubbing this old floor ever since half-past six this morning, and it just won't get clean," she said in a very tired little voice. "It's it time for lunch yet. I'm nearly starved."

"I'm terribly hungry myself. It must be nearly 12 by now."

And he looked at his watch. "My Lord! It's only 9 o'clock! Why, the day has just begun!"

"What! Only 9 o'clock! Your watch must be wrong. I've been working here at least seven hours this morning. Go out and see what the right time is, please."

Herbert didn't seem to mind being ordered about by a scrub-woman. He went outside and found out that it was in truth only 9 o'clock. That meant three long hours before they could eat, and they both were nearly famished.

"Why don't you sneak out and buy a little something?" she asked. "If you don't I'm afraid I'll faint."

"I wish I could, but I haven't any money," he answered. "It was arranged that I take my meals in the building."

"It was arranged the same way for me. Oh, I do wish I had something to eat!"

THE CRY OF BEAUTY

"Now you wait here and I'll sneak out and get something, even if I have to steal it," said Herbert, for the first time contemplating theft.

"That's the way to talk!" cried the girl, becoming a willing accomplice in crime. "I wish you all the luck in the world, but look out for the policeman!"

Herbert left the building by the back way without being observed, and soon found a lunch counter, where he bought some fruit and cake. When his pockets were bulging he walked calmly to the door and hurried back to where his fellow sufferer and accomplice was anxiously waiting the appearance of tangible nourishment.

When he emptied his pockets she gave a little cry of joy and then they started eating, with supreme enjoyment the kind of food that they would have turned up their respective noses at twenty-four hours earlier.

PARENTS ARE DELIGHTED

It was a wonderful feast and the memory of it helped them out the rest of the day and made it possible for them to finish without collapsing.

Herbert and Caroline kept their identity a secret and worked together in the basement for a whole week giving each other encouragement when it was needed and enjoying every minute of their time together.

Their respective parents were surprised and delighted at the spirit their children showed. After the week was up Mr. Cantor told Herbert that he did not have to go back any more. He received the shock of his life when he had to forbid the boy to return.

The next day the same thing happened to Caroline.

As soon as they got the opportunity they both went to the store secretly, but as they went at different times they did not find each other.

A month went slowly by. Neither had heard or seen anything of the other. Both were unusually quiet and took no interest in their usual pleasures. Their parents became very much worried.

When Mrs. Gilcrest gave her first ball of the season Mr. Cantor urged Herbert to go. He felt that his son had never been the same since disciplinary measures, and he longed to see Herbert his buoyant, extravagant self again, rather than the listless young man he had become. Herbert was not anxious to go, but in order to please his father he decided to at least pay his respects.

IN A DAZE

The night arrived, with every one expecting a magnificent time except Herbert. In the machine on the way to Mrs. Gilcrest's affair Herbert saw a vision in a passing car which disturbed him mightily. Mentally he recalled a face be-smudged with dirt, but arrogant. A wilful, sweet mouth and a tired, frowsy head resting upon his shoulder.

How long ago it seemed, and how strange it was to see a face in his world of luxury that brought her back to him so vividly. To meet eyes for one fleeting moment which were just like hers.

In a half daze Herbert underwent the formality of greeting his hostess and her family. His thoughts still straying, he strolled through the brilliant assemblage of noted guests and made for the conservatory at the end of the long reception room.

Beside a splashing fountain and hidden from the chattering throng by some palms he seated himself on a marble bench. He closed his eyes in order to give himself up to his thoughts.

A soft rustle of femininity disturbed him. Unwillingly he opened his eyes, and then started. The second vision he had seen that night. Beautiful, shimmering in white, with her face longer and sad and woe-begone, but radiant and full of wonder, stood his little goddess of the soap suds. What different surroundings in which to meet! But Herbert did not stop long to consider the matter. If a second he had clasped the white figure to his heart.

"Why—who—how—did you get here?" both exclaimed. But to youth miracles seem the order of the day, and somehow it seemed the most natural thing in the world to Herbert and Caroline that they should have met at last in such a strange way.

When he emptied his pockets she gave a little cry of joy and then they started eating, with supreme enjoyment the kind of food that they would have turned up their respective noses at twenty-four hours earlier.

WILSON FRIENDS WIN IN MISSOURI

Democratic Convention Indorses President And Ignores Reed

SENATOR STORM CENTER

Named As A Delegate By District Caucus, But Must Have Convention's Approval

Joplin, Mo., April 22.—Supporters of President Wilson and the League of Nations demonstrated their control of the Democratic State Convention late this evening over the forces of Senator James A. Reed when they adopted resolutions indorsing both the President and the League. Reed was not mentioned in the resolutions, despite his well-known opposition to Wilson and the treaty, and the liquor issue, which threatened at one time to cause a serious split in the gathering, was ignored.

It became evident early in the session today that the question of dealing with Reed was the foremost problem the Democrats had to face.

The delegation from Jackson County, numbering 171, threw down the gauntlet to the anti-Reed delegates in the convention when in its caucus it recommended the election of Senator Reed and Joseph B. Shannon, Democratic leader of Kansas City, as delegates from the Fifth District to the national convention.

This action, which was taken without a dissenting voice from any of the women delegates from Jackson County, was followed by the adoption of a resolution declaring that the delegates elected were uninstructed and would not be bound by the action of the State Convention.

When Jackson County is called in convention for the names of delegates to be submitted to the convention for ratification, Reed and Shannon will be named. If Reed is defeated by the Fifth District delegation will submit no other name in his stead, according to Emmet O'Malley.

MAY BOLT CONVENTION

According to one report members of the Fifth District delegation have declared that unless the convention indorses Reed and Shannon, the entire unit would bolt the convention.

So bitter was the fight over Reed that committees chosen this morning and scheduled to report at 2:30 p.m. had been unable up to 10:30 o'clock tonight to reach an agreement.

Senator Reed has been mentioned as a prospective candidate for delegate at large to the national convention, but he has declared he would not be willing to serve if the convention instructed the delegation to vote for a national platform plank supporting the League covenant.

Anti-Reed forces claimed a victory tonight when the Credentials Committee of the convention voted to unseat a delegation of twenty-two Reed supporters in favor of a delegation instructed to oppose any indorsement of Senator Reed by the convention.

Equal representation for women, the delegation at large to the National Convention to be four men and four women, with a half vote each, has been agreed upon tentatively by the leaders.

During the afternoon the delegates decided to send a telegram to William J. Bryan, congratulating him and the people of Nebraska over his apparent election in Tuesday's primary as one of the delegates at large to the National Convention. Mention of Bryan's name caused a long demonstration. The resolution was a proof of the control of the convention by the "dry" element.

Britain Boasts Of Oil Control

Sir Mackay Edgar Says United States Will Import On Big Scale By 1930

BY SIR MACKAY EDGAR

Noted British Economist

London, April 18.—If the present rate of oil consumption is maintained, the Americans within ten years will have to import 500,000,000 barrels annually at $2 a barrel, which means a yearly payment of $1,000,000,000, most of which will find its way into British pockets.

Easily the most interesting news of the past week was a despatch from New York showing that America is beginning to realize that her supremacy of oil is passing away, and the future of the most vital industries lies with Britain.

While America is exhausting her supplies at a prodigious speed, we are getting a firmer grip upon the world's oil reserves.

For sixty years America has run through a legacy of petroleum which, properly conserved, would last her a century and a half. Americans have misused oil just as they have misused every other form of natural wealth.

Improvidence, carelessness and a blind gambling spirit have marked all except the most recent phases of the American oil industry and wrought an incalculable and irretrievable loss.

More oil probably has run to waste in the United States than has reached the refineries.

America before 1921 will find herself 100,000,000 gallons short.

In Mexico alone they (American oil interests) have acquired a strong position, but even there we hold the winning cards.

Aside from Mexico, it is a case of Britain first, the rest nowhere.

Two-thirds of the improved fields of Central and South America are in British hands. In Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Ecuador, Panama, Colombia, Costa Rica, and Venezuela the decisive and overwhelming majority of petroleum concessions are held by British subjects and will be developed by British capital.

The Alvest group, whose holdings encircle practically two-thirds of the Caribbean Sea, is wholly British, working under arrangements insuring that perpetual control of its undertakings will remain in British hands.

No American citizen or group of citizens has acquired or ever could acquire any such position in Central America.

The Shell group, ably financed and superbly managed, owns the exclusive or controlling interests in every important oil field in the world. Sir Marcus Samuel, controlling the Shell group, said publicly the other day that they would never sell out to America. That announcement alone closes a vast proportion of the world's petroleum fields against any invasion by the United States.

The whole British Empire is similarly shut off from foreign concessionaires. The British Government acted with shrewd foresight when it acquired the majority interest of ordinary shares of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, whose concession has forty years to run.

It may also be fairly assumed that the position we have acquired in Mesopotamia insures to British interests the development of the local oil fields.

There may be small, isolated saltpies from America for the world's oil resources, but there can never be a massed attack, for the British position is impregnable.

Sir Mackay Edgar is Canadian-born. He has been for years in close touch with American business, having made repeated trips to this country. He represents some $500,000,000 of capital in Britain and an equal amount outside the British domains.
